RWA TRAILS
AMITY ROAD TO DILLON ROAD

Woodbridge, CT

The Blue/Yellow Trail is a major link in the Woodbridge Greenway Trail system. It enters on Amity Road (Route 63) just east of coming down the Bleu Trail of Round Hill. You can follow this trail westward and then southerly until you come to Sperry Road an old country dirt road, cross the road and continue south to Dillon Road.

The Sargent River flows south thru the area from Lake Chamberlain in Bethany down to Lake Glen in Woodbridge. These two water bodies are part of the five reservoirs that were created between 1889 and 1925 to form the West River Water Supply System.

Please stay on the Blue Trail with Yellow Dot and do not hike down to Lake Glen. There is no swimming or fishing in this reservoir. There is some fishing allowed on the Sargent River between the gas line and Sperry Road. Please contact the RWA for more details.

Take time to visit Sperry Park and Sperry Falls. Water from the falls was used to run a wool processing mill in the late 18th to early 19th century. It was operated by the Sperry Family. Remnants of its foundation can still be seen. The Sperry's are known as this town's First Family, having settled in Woodbridge back in 1648.
